

RELEASE KIT

Voilé is the world leader in free-heel release binding technology. Our lightweight Voilé Release Kit provides an added margin of safety for both the skier and equipment. Whether telemark racing, skiing in avalanche-prone areas, or descending a favorite resort slope, consider the Release Kit to be cheap insurance. While the sport of skiing does carry inherent risks and no release system is guaranteed to release in all situations, the Voilé Release Kit provides additional confidence for skiing at peak performance levels.

The release plate, on which a 3-pin or cable binding can be mounted, is held in place by a spring loaded piston. The piston presses into a return-to-center indent in the front of the plate and is held in the back by a semi-circular, anti-friction plate. This design reduces pre-releasing by absorbing transient shock but allows for lateral and vertical release. High quality nylon and heat treated parts give the skier lightweight dependability and piece of mind.
